

Community Planning Locality Arrangements

Background

Locality Planning has moved on since previous updates. Several factors are driving this development:

- National and local drivers
- The coming together of partners and communities through the Locality Hubs
- The Place Planning Partnership

Locality Hubs

- Co-ordinated by Third Sector
- While originally developed in response to COVID, the Locality Hubs have extended their role in local community planning
- They have become the trusted locus for partners working at local level to network

Place Planning Partnership

The partners working on Place have come together recently as the Place Planning Partnership (PPP).

The Place Planning Partnership aims:

- To develop coherence in joint working arrangements
- To better understand the requirements of Place Plans
- To develop joint workforce training
- To develop a coherent offer to communities

Place Plans and Locality Planning

What are Place Plans?

Place Plans are community led-plans based on local community engagement and are often constructed using the Place Standard Tool

To be effective, Place Plans must...

- Be led by the local community
- Have significant engagement
- Call on the advice and support of local and national partners.
- Look at all aspects of what makes a place worth living in

How Good is Your Place?

The Planning Act (Scotland) Act 2019

The Planning (Scotland) Act 2019 empowers communities to have their Place Plans considered by the Local Authority.

It is likely that the Council will be asked to produce an annual report demonstrating how it has supported communities to develop these Plans.

The Council has welcomed the support of its partners in responding to this challenge.

Key Issues

- Bringing coherence to partners' work around locality and Place
- It is important that communities see direct outcomes from the joint work of local partners and practical support to communities will be essential
